With the completion of an Engineering Apprenticeship, Ian changed careers to Technology with a Multi-National Company for 20 years in service sales & management. At 45 he was made redundant when the company closed branches throughout Australia. Ian then worked Selling & Training on Agricultural Software under Government Funding, Brokered in the Finance Industry until its crash, & then a contract Project Estimator in the Building Industry.

When introduced to ACN by an ex business associate, he saw how he could get paid when people paid their monthly bills. Ian realised its potential, he could help friends & family, and also leave a generational financial legacy for his family.

Today Ian has reached the position of Regional Director within ACN and is excited about the future that ACN has to offer us all, and with the expansion into more countries and with more services, it is so exciting for our future.
